MOB RULE IN LONDON

Buildings Burned by British Rioters.

Property of Naturalized Germans Destroyed is Valued at Millions.

London Police Adopt Strong Measures to Cope with the Pillagers.

Government of Foreign-born Their Own Safety Under Consideration.

AT LONDON, May 12.—The sinking of the Lusitania has aroused to a fever pitch the smoldering animosity and suspicion of Germans living in England. This animosity has been expressed during the last few hours in attacks on German property upon their shops in the quarters of London and other parts of the city. The rioters have been driven away by the police.

Many of the disturbances of peace were brought before the police courts today and received punishment in sentences ranging from four months imprisonment, imposed on one Liverpool woman, to a four-shilling fine.

In several instances English Swiss have been set on fire by the rioters. A spontaneous movement has developed in the London market to boycott subjects of enemy countries and small dealers who appeared for supplies today were refused them and a number of them were driven away by crowds.

POLICE FORCE DEPLETED. The police forces of both London and Liverpool have been depleted by enlistments in the army and special constables have been called out to help the regulars. These constables, however, are mostly citizens without experience in police work and the mob often have got the better of them. A number of police have been injured during the rioting.

THIS COYOTE MINUS A TAIL.

Shepherd Ties Dynamite to It and Blows up His Own Cattle.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.) SALINAS, May 12.—Antonio Barrios, a shepherd of Soledad, thought for a few minutes today that he had solved the coyote problem. Of late the coyotes have been ravaging Barrios's flock. This morning he captured one coyote in a trap. Looking defiantly from the hillside above him were two more. Barrios had a brilliant idea. He secured a long fuse and a stick of dynamite, tied it to the captured coyote's tail and turned it loose. It was to seek its fellows and execute Barrios's plan. Unfortunately, however, his dogs gave chase and drove the animal near a bunch of cattle. The dynamite exploded, killing two dogs and several of the cattle. The coyote lost only its tail.

CONCESSION BY AUSTRIA

Pope is to Guarantee Fulfillment.

Vienna Offers Her Utmost to Rome to Keep Italy Out of the War.

Grave Doubts that the Terms will be Acceptable to the Latins.

A Number of Reports that the Efforts for Peace by Giolitti Have Failed.

BY RAPINET MACKENZIE. (BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.) ROME, May 12.—To avert war, Austria has offered the utmost concessions to Italy, making them known to the Foreign Office today. They consist of the cession of the Trentino, including the Gorizia (Goerz) plain of the Isonzo River, the complete autonomy of Trieste, Istria and other districts inhabited by Italians, the cession of four islands on the Dalmatian coast, a free hand in Albania and privileged commercial treaties.

The concessions are offered unconditionally and hence not only is Italy's freedom of action unrestricted, but a renewal of the Triple Alliance is not necessary. Italy, however, is expected to refrain from declaring war on Austria. The Pope will guarantee the carrying out of the promised concessions. I am informed that Pope Benedict has actually promised to undertake such a guarantee, but that Italy is not likely to accept it, for if Austria fails to keep its promise the Pope would be powerless to enforce its execution.

The efforts of Signor Giolitti, the former Premier, to avert war have failed. The government is convinced Austria's latest offer is insufficient and it will not follow his advice that the state of neutrality be continued and the Italian-Austrian negotiations be resumed. It is now announced that Italy is determined not to alter the policy followed since the beginning of the war and is prepared to fix a time limit, virtually amounting to an ultimatum, within which Austria is expected to accede to Italy's demands unless it wishes to sever diplomatic relations.

Signor Giolitti, although he disapproves the government's policy, has promised the King to support the cabinet. Reports of a possible ministerial crisis are unfounded.

The new Russian Ambassador will arrive tonight and will be received in audience by the King. He will also confer at once with the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Signor Sonnino.

INSISTS ITALY WILL INTERVENE. (BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.) GENEVA (via Paris) May 12.—The correspondent at Rome of the Journal de Geneve says he is able to affirm that Italy's intervention in the war has been absolutely decided on. "The government," the correspondent adds, "shortly will take steps which will leave no doubt about Italy's intention and when the cabinet appears before Parliament May 20, that body will ratify an accomplished fact."

UNSAFE TO SPEAK GERMAN IN ITALY. (BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.) VIENNA (via Paris) May 12.—The Austrian government has issued an order that all government transports in Italian waters proceed at once to Trieste or Pola.

Germans arriving in Switzerland from Italy say it is no longer safe to speak German on the streets of Milan or Turin. Two Germans are reported to have been nearly lynched at Brescia.

COUNCIL IN ROME LASTS FOR HOURS. (BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.) ROME (via Paris) May 12.—A meeting of the Council of Ministers held today to discuss the situation in Italy and Austria lasted over two hours. At its conclusion no communication was issued as to the result arrived at, but it is believed a decision was reached for the cabinet to go before Parliament and submit the existing situation to that body.

What is considered the last definite proposal of Austria concerning the territorial concessions demanded by Italy was received today by the Italian government.

The cabinet at once went into session to consider the communication.

Maxim and a Great German Shell.

Peace as a casus belli.

The upper panel, Hudson Maxim, inventor of guns and other death-dealing devices. The lower panel, a snapshot of one of the huge German shells now being used in the war. Shells like this were fired into Dunkirk by the Germans from a distance of seventeen miles. Alongside the shell stands a German maid. The photo was taken at the exposition for munitions of war in Berlin. Note the relative size of girl and shell. Maxim fears the pacifists may cause war. His faith is pinned to the big shell.

Preparedness.

PEOPLE ARE DEFENSELESS; SENTIMENTALISM BLAMED.

Hudson Maxim Declares Publicity of Limelight-Loving Philanthropists has Placed this Country in an Unenviable Position—Blames Jordan and Others for Killing Appropriations for Army and Navy.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.) NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, May 12.—Hudson Maxim, author of "Defenseless America," and inventor of guns and smokeless powder, today placed all blame for the killing of national defense appropriations on the shoulders of the pacifists. Mr. Maxim was speaking at the Aldine Club. In the course of his address, Mr. Maxim said:

"There has sprung up in this country during the last quarter of a century a most potential pacifist movement both led and pushed along by hyper-sentimental idealists, impractical theorists and dreamers, all enthusiasts, all possessed of the best intentions; they have been very busy paving broad highways for the hell of war to enter into this country. The sinews of their warfare, money, in the pockets of rich limelight lovers and good-hearted, well-meaning philanthropists and they have made liberal use of money to spread their theories by means of circulars and letters and booklets and by means of a most potent Congressional lobby, a lobby that has done very much to defeat appropriations for national defense."

"Circular letters are sent throughout the country asking their recipients to write personal letters to their Congressmen urging the defeat of any appropriations for enlarging the army or the navy or for coast fortifications."

"The power of example is great with all of us and this pacifist propaganda has been made good use of. They have among their vice-presidents and on their advisory boards and among their patrons, some of the most widely known men and women in the land."

"The people have had no defenders worthy of the name. They have been helpless against conviction and before this war broke out they had been made actually to believe that the last great war of the world had been made."

MAY GO THE LIMIT TO EXACT COMPLIANCE.

America to Leave Nothing Undone in Diplomacy "or Other Action."

Cessation of Submarine Attacks on Merchant Ships Carrying Noncombatants and Full Reparation for Loss of More than a Hundred United States Citizens First Objects of Note to be Sent Today.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.) WASHINGTON, May 12.—The German embassy tonight notified by letter and telegraph newspapers in all the larger cities of the United States to discontinue publication of its advertisement warning Americans against trans-Atlantic travel on belligerent ships. No reason for discontinuing the advertisement is given in the letters and telegrams, but it was stated at the embassy tonight that the warning was considered to have been sufficient.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The United States, in a note to be sent to Germany tomorrow, demands a guarantee that there will be no further attacks by submarines on merchant ships carrying noncombatants.

It serves notice also that full reparation will be sought for the loss of more than 100 American lives in the sinking of the Lusitania, and for other violations of American rights in the sea zones of war.

While no indication is given of the steps to be taken by the United States in the event of an unfavorable reply, the note informs the German government that the American government will leave nothing undone either in diplomatic representations or other action to obtain a compliance with its requests.

The document was to have been cabled tonight, but the President, after conferences with Counsellor Robert Lansing of the State Department, made several changes in legal detail and then revised it alone in his study. Tomorrow it will be dispatched and it is expected to be made public soon afterward.

No changes were made in the essentials of the communication as formulated Sunday by the President and approved by the Cabinet yesterday.

PRINCIPAL POINTS. The principal points in the note are substantially as follows:

One—The United States government calls attention to the various incidents in the war zone proclaimed by Germany around the British Isles; the sinking of the British liner Falaba, with the loss of Leon C. Thresher, an American; the attack by German airmen on the American steamer Cushing, the torpedoing, without warning, of the American steamer Guilford, flying the Stars and Stripes, and finally, the torpedoing, without warning, of the Lusitania with its loss of more than a thousand lives of noncombatants, among them more than one hundred Americans.

Two—These acts are declared to be indefensible under international law. The United States points out that it never admitted Germany's right to do them, and warned the imperial government that it would be held to a "strict accountability" for attacks on American vessels or lives. A strict accounting, therefore, is now asked from Germany.

Three—The usual financial reparation will be sought, although Germany is in effect reminded that no reparation can restore the lives of those sacrificed in the sinking of the Lusitania and other ships.

Four—Expressions of regret may comply with the legal precedents but they are valueless unless accompanied by a cessation of the practices endangering lives of noncombatants.

Five—The right of neutrals to travel any point of the high seas on neutral or belligerent merchantmen is asserted.

Six—In the name of humanity and international law the United States demands a guarantee that these rights will be respected and that there be no repetition of the attacks on merchantmen carrying noncombatants.

Seven—The giving of warnings to the American public without officially communicating them to the United States government is commented on in connection with the German Embassy's printed advertisement before the sailing of the Lusitania, but irrespective of the failure to advise the American government of Germany's purpose, the point is made that notice of an intention to do an unlawful act neither justified nor legalized it.

Eight—The suggestion is conveyed that the German government, of course, could not have intended to destroy innocent lives, and that consequently the German submarine commanders must have misunderstood their instructions. The American government indicates its hope that this will be found to be true, and a cessation of the unlawful practices thereby will result.

Nine—In conclusion, Germany's attention is called to the earnestness of the government and people of the United States in this situation. It is made plain that the United States will leave nothing undone, either in diplomatic representations or other action, to obtain a compliance by Germany to the request made.

FRIENDLY TONES, BUT—The note throughout is couched in friendly tones, but is unmistakably firm. By the suggestion that German submarine commanders must have misunderstood their instructions or that the German government could not have intended to destroy innocent lives, room is given for a disavowal by Germany of the practices in the war zone and an assurance that future attacks will be prohibited.

In executive quarters intense interest prevailed today and news of what the American note contained was eagerly sought by officials.

Probation Officer no Longer Juvenile Judge's.

Appellate Court Rules it's Under Supervisors.

Chief Source of Past Wars is Removed Bodily.

The District Court of Appeal reversed the decision of the Probation Officer, Judge Taft yesterday, in a decision involving the right of the judges who had charge of the juvenile court and the Probation Officer to remove a probation officer to a position of a probation officer.

The plaintiff was former Chief Probation Officer Hugh C. Gibson, against the Probation Officer, Judge Taft, who was removed from his position of Chief Probation Officer to a position of a probation officer.

The court said the question is whether the matter of removing a probation officer is within the power of the Probation Officer, or whether it is within the power of the Probation Officer, or whether it is within the power of the Probation Officer.

"Three Babies Are Sweeter than One"

Mrs. Harry R. Doerr.
Daughter of the Sagebrush Philosopher, and her triplets, born ten days ago. They are girls.

Three joys.

ONLY BY THEIR TAGS CAN THEY BE KNOWN.

"Why don't everybody have triplets? Three kids can do lots more work than one and sometimes one is harder to raise than three."

Thus wrote Bill Barlow, the sagebrush philosopher, once upon a time. Nearly everybody read Bill's philosophy just for the fun of it, but his daughter took him seriously, and though she waited until three years after his death, followed his advice ten days ago by bringing into the world three of the sweetest, cutest little babies to be found anywhere.

The late philosopher's daughter is Mrs. Elizabeth Barlow Fay Doerr of No. 1811 East Fifty-seventh street. Yesterday she was proudly showing the triplets to a crowd of interested mothers who gave a little philosophy of her own. She said:

"If one baby is sweet, which is admitted by everyone, is there any reason why triplets are not three times as sweet. Anyhow, that is the way I feel about it, and since they have come I am the happiest woman in the world."

Mrs. Doerr is 38 years old and is the mother of ten children. She has perfect health and says that women can not expect to be strong and healthy unless they have lots of babies.

The triplets are unusually sprightly and bright, but of course do not answer to their names yet, and they look so much alike that even their mother has to look for the tag that around their tiny wrists before she can tell them apart.

Anna Elizabeth, the first born, weighing 4 1/2 pounds, is identified by a blue tag; Ida Louise, the second born, weighing 4 1/2 pounds, is identified by a red tag; and Emma May, the smallest at birth, weighing only 3 1/2 pounds, carries a white tag.

Each baby has taken on a little avoirdupois but none of them is very fat.

husky, Dr. Louise Auerbach, who is attending them, says they are getting along finely and are normal in every respect.

Harry R. Doerr, father of the triplets, has been so busy ever since they came, taking care of them that he has scarcely had time to receive the showers of congratulations bestowed by his many friends. Not until yesterday did he have time to send the glad news to his relatives in various parts of the country.

The first letter written by Mrs. Doerr was sent to her mother, Douglas, Wyo., the city made famous by Bill Barlow's quaint philosophy. Barlow's true name was Morris Barlow, but only his most intimate friends knew him as such.

NEW BANK DIRECTOR.

Mr. Shettler has resided in Los Angeles over twenty years, has been interested in the development of the city, and is one of its substantial citizens. In early days he was interested in the manufacturing business in Michigan and later was one of the original men in the development and manufacture of the Reo motor car, which was associated with R. E. Olds in the manufacture of the Oldsmobile.

FILM CAPTURES SEA'S TERRORS.

Remarkable Motion Pictures of Submarines Made.

Diving Craft and Speeding Torpedoes "Caught."

Views will be Shown at F-4 Benefit Ball.

The first motion pictures of the modern H type of submarine in action will be shown in Shrine Auditorium next Thursday at the military ball given by the bluejackets of the second submarine division for the benefit of the dependents of the crew on the ill-fated submarine F-4, now at the bottom of the sea off Honolulu harbor.

The negatives were made yesterday at a series of maneuvers off the breakwater under the direction of H. L. Baird, assistant manager of the Keystone Film Company. That the pictures might be made a special order was issued by the Secretary of the Navy.

Three motion-picture cameras were trained on the boats in action, and views were declared by the experts some of the most remarkable ever taken. Torpedoes skimming through the water at the rate of thirty-five knots an hour, diving, submerged runs at high speed with only the periscope of the H-3 showing in a trail of foam, recovery of the crew in action, were taken in a variety of positions.

Work of taking the films yesterday morning occupied nearly three hours. The cameras were taken out on the H-2, under command of Lieut. H. J. Benson, from which a torpedo was fired with the machines on deck. The remarkable feature of firing a torpedo is that there is little to see and less to hear. The click of the motion picture machines made more noise than the hiss of the air as the engine of destruction.

Mr. Shettler has resided in Los Angeles over twenty years, has been interested in the development of the city, and is one of its substantial citizens. In early days he was interested in the manufacturing business in Michigan and later was one of the original men in the development and manufacture of the Reo motor car, which was associated with R. E. Olds in the manufacture of the Oldsmobile.

"SHOW ME" CHIEF HOB-NOBS HERE.

REFUSES AUTO AND SEES THIS REGION BY TROLLEY CAR; EXPRESSES PRAISE.

Gov. Major of Missouri expects to live to be 100 years of age. He told Frank Wiggins so yesterday.

"Why, you're a young-looking man to be Governor of a great State like Missouri," said the more or less youthful secretary of the Chamber of Commerce when the Chief Executive of the "show-me" State called on him, just after arrival here from San Francisco.

"Yes, sir," replied the Governor. "I feel young. My father is 91 years of age, and I expect to live to be 100. Brought up in the country, you know; roots go down far."

Possessed of a warm and fervent handshake, and carrying a cane, Gov. Major arrived here yesterday afternoon accompanied by Mrs. Major, and one aide. He registered at the Angelus for a few hours, and left in the afternoon for San Francisco.

"Great city here, wonderful city, magnificent homes, energetic people, everybody looks prosperous," said the Governor. "Like to rub shoulders with them."

And he did, for, waving aside the chamber's offer of an automobile, he and Mrs. Major saw the city and Pasadena by trolley car.

"Fine city. May God bless you," was his parting salutation to Mr. Wiggins.

ANTELOPE VALLEY DAY.

Really Men Will Hear of Region's Best Possibilities—Excursion May Run Tomorrow.

Today has been designated as Antelope Valley Day by the Los Angeles Realty Board, which will meet this noon at the Clark to hear talks by a number of men who have made a careful study of the conditions and possibilities of the vast and incompletely developed region lying just beyond the mountains in Los Angeles county. The meeting, which will take the form of a luncheon, will be under the auspices of the Antelope Valley Improvement Association, composed of a large number of men, including many in Los Angeles, who have property interests in the Antelope district.

Harry Lee Martin, vice-president of the association, will preside as chairman. George Fuller, president of the Lancaster Chamber of Commerce, and W. C. Fletcher of this city will speak on the valley and answer questions about it. It is understood that arrangements are being perfected by the association to take a large excursion to the different points of interest in the Antelope Valley tomorrow.

SAFETY ORDERS FOR CROSSINGS.

Stringent Rules Laid Down by Utilities Board.

To Prevent Tragedies Like Aliso-street Wreck.

Railway Officials Question City's Jurisdiction.

Safeguards were thrown about grade crossings yesterday when the Board of Public Utilities made a sweeping order to three steam and two electric railways operating in Los Angeles to take extra precautions, so there may not be a recurrence of horror such as the recent Aliso-street accident.

The rules laid down by the board will become effective at 8 o'clock this evening.

While the new strictures upon traffic are brought about by the Aliso-street tragedy and deal in the main with the crossing of the Pacific Electric and Santa Fe and Salt Lake railways at that point, they go further and apply to every grade crossing in the city that is not protected by interlocking signal and derrick installations.

The board acted not alone under its own desire to eliminate grade crossing tragedy, but upon instructions from the City Council to take immediate action to have a separation of grades all over the city. The board asserted it will take some time to formulate a plan for complete separation of grades, but unanimously adopted a resolution which lays down new grade-crossing regulations.

The board's jurisdiction in grade-crossing matters is questioned by some of the railroad officials, who assert that the State Railroad Commission has jurisdiction, and General Manager Nutt of the Salt Lake route raised this point yesterday. However, President Lane of the Utilities Board asserted that City Attorney Stephens is prepared to prove the city's jurisdiction in such matters, and had so held in the Daum case.

The board's new order provides that all railways within the city limits be required to carry flags or broken men acting as such, on the extreme forward end of every train, who shall by signals, indicate to the public which way his train is moving, and to his "inner the condition of the roadway ahead at crossings, except in such cases as an engine is at the head of such train and facing in the direction in which it is running.

That all street or interurban cars or trains propelled by electricity shall come to a full stop not less than ten feet from a steam railroad crossing.

"I.N.U."

All the schools were visited, but no person bearing the name "U. N. U." was found. The school teacher remarked that she had heard of a gang of tough boys known as the "U. N. U." who carried letters to each other by letters, being known as "A. N. U.," "B. N. U." and so on through the alphabet.

The name of a boy supposed to be a member of the gang, and this boy said he thought Herbert Thomas, No. 1011 E. 12th, was the leader. His address was sought, and the coat and hat identified as belonging to the boy, who was taken to the Hospital recovering from an illness.

In reality he was undergoing treatment for injuries received in his fight with the boys who were found cowering in a cot in a ward. Posing as merely an interested friend, Detective O'Connell was able to get the names marked in that way, and the boy told the secret of the pinheads. Then followed a complete confession of the many other crimes of the gang.

Charges will be filed today.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.
 CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.
 (At Home.) A hundred per cent. increase in the iron, steel and allied trades since the first of the year is the report of the president of one of our largest steel industries. And he says business is still on the increase. President Wilson's policy regarding the Lusitania had a quelling effect in financial circles, and transactions were on a large scale. French gold amounting to $5,000,000 arrived in New York. The outlook for fruit is favorable all over the country. Los Angeles bank clearings of $4,559,973 were the greatest on record for any one day.

(Abroad.) The Russian government has authorized a second war loan of $500,000,

DEIGHT IN WELL-DOING.
 There is no gain where there is no
 joy. We know a thousand men who are doing no better than they are because they cannot love their work enough to put the full of success into it.

NO IMPROVEMENT.
 When we consider how long the world has been lying and has been peopled with liars we are amazed that it produces no better brand. So far as we can see there has been no improvement upon Ananias and we do not think that this famous gentleman was a day ahead of his time.

THEY REAP AS THEY SOW.
 Nations have no immortality. Our individual virtues and sins may be rewarded and punished hereafter, but the life of a nation begins and ends in this world, and the law of logic will hold it to strict account for its deeds and its misdeeds. It will flower upon virtue and it will die upon vice, cowardice, cruelty and injustice.

THE MUSIC DIES.
 The Boston Opera Company has gone into bankruptcy after six years of fine work.
 With the whole country flooded with European singers at this time, as the result of the war, we fall to see why one of the few grand opera companies in America had to go down. It would have been better to have salaries go down instead.

AN ASSURANCE.
 It is good to feel that you have known some people for a considerable while. Long friendships are an assurance of order—the world in order, your own life well ordered, something lasting in the scheme of things.
 Precedence, reiterations, repetitions, all have the semblance of a guarantee of what is to follow. They support one; they surround us with a sense of security; they persuade us that, after all, in spite of the ceaseless change of life, there is something in ourselves and in others that we dare tie to.

TAKING A LONG CHANCE.
 The Governor of Maryland and a big party of his friends were met in this city on their way to the exposition up north by a fine lot of former residents of Maryland.
 We have been thinking how lucky it was for Gov. Goldsborough that he was not the Governor of Iowa. If ever that gentleman came to Los Angeles he would have no earthly way of knowing that he was not at home and he would probably keep right on trying to run things as if he were. The chances are that he would never go back, inasmuch as he would see many more Iowans than he could possibly hope to meet in Des Moines.

WE AID HAVE IT.
 Personality is a curious thing. Everybody has it, but it breaks out on one and is inwrought with others. One man spreads his over a ten-thousand-acre ranch and another man shuts his in an eight-foot office. One man radiates it from a center that is like an ounce of radium and another man veils it over until his presence is like a hark from the tombs.
 The secret of the whole thing is a heart of good will. Nothing else builds confidence between a person and the world and nothing except confidence building ever makes a man at home with the world.

DON'T MAKE EXCUSES.
 Life permits one glorious inconsistency. It is a wholesome discrepancy between a man's belief and his conduct. The reason is apparent. The man who undertakes to regulate his ethics by his conduct would build up a very dangerous philosophy and one that would never do for a standard.
 His whole system would only amount to a series of sorry excuses for inexcusable blunders. By all means keep your mental vision unblurred and your moral values in the clear. Let the wrongs you do be your confessions and your sorrow, but never your justification. Do not add to the crime of wrongdoing by pretending that you thought it was righteous.

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE WITH MEXICO.

The crescendo of horror in Mexico has been somewhat diminished by the thunder of European guns; but Mexico today presents more wantonness, desolation, indiscriminate ferocity than the whole of Flanders with its millions of men in a grim deathlock. There is method in the madness of Europe; there is none south of the Rio Grande.

Since the mob patriots, struggling to reach their visioned paradise of a full stomach and no work, pushed Porfirio Diaz into exile there has been but a spasmodic and transient semblance of law and peace in even the more fortunate localities; and in some districts or other there have been with ever-widening radius perpetual carnage, lust for blood and bodies, murders and crimes unspasmodic.

The best people of Mexico are exiles today. They have fled by the thousands, leaving their homes to the rioters, their worldly goods for brigands' loot. It meant death to remain. Mexico has fallen backward into barbarism. Development has not only ceased, but the works of civilization have been destroyed. The miners and oil men and ranchers have been driven out or murdered; the currency is debased, and after each successful ambush some new guerrilla chief issues promissory notes that have not a peso back of them. There are no industries; this is nothing but crime and hunger.

America is in sorrow and anguish, and rightfully so, over the loss of a few score of countrymen who went down with the Lusitania. But for years our fellow-countrymen below the Rio Grande have been hounded and murdered without even the shade of justification offered by Germany's apologists; and we have pathetically watched and waited, allowed more arms to be imported with which more Americans and more inoffensive and worthy Mexicans have been harried and shot.

Not only have these butchers of the South looted and slaughtered their own countrymen; not only have they insolently stained with blood the flag of every nation whose citizens have been killed, but they have resounded God. In the whole length and breadth of the land there is no sanctuary; churches have been desecrated, priests tortured, slain and driven into hiding. Nuns have been torn from their cloisters, seized on their errands of mercy and—death were infinitely better! With a fenshish persistence these bastards of Anarchy are obliterated all evidence of religion and boast of it in their pompous manifestos.

The country is desolate; no industry, no money, no food. Slow-creeping starvation has clamped its hand on the people. Only the robbers eat, and one compassionate brigand general, when the populace of Mexico City cried for bread, told them to steal.

None of these facts are new; only they grow blacker with the setting of each sun. Los Angeles is full of refugees who tell the same story. The Times correspondent came out of Mexico with incontrovertible evidence that rumor had not told nearly the whole truth. One of only three American correspondents, he had remained there amid the dangers and disasters. He saw, he heard and he had affidavit. He bore the tragic message of the foreign colony of Mexico City to the United States. Literally fought his way through one guerrilla line after another and gave it to the world.

And recently a special representative of the administration has returned to the United States from Mexico, after making an investigation. He, too, bears witness that the tongues of rumor have for once been inadequate. Everything that The Times correspondent said has been substantiated by Duval West. He found conditions desperate, terrible and impossible for this country longer to ignore.

Mr. West, in whom Mr. Wilson and members of the Cabinet are said to place much confidence, strongly advises that the United States take direct, emphatic action toward the pacification of Mexico. "Intervention" is not his word, but it would be practically the same. He has pointed out with something of an ironic touch, in view of our extreme caution, that there is no danger of the United States offending the Mexican government, because there is no government to offend. He says the chaos is growing constantly greater and no man of Mexico is strong enough to stem the flood. The plan suggested is to enforce a blockade on the whole of Mexico—refuse to allow the importation of arms, and to enforce this blockade on sea and land with whatever show or use of force may be necessary.

Mr. West is convinced, after interviewing the respective claimants for Mexico's Presidency, that it would be futile for the United States to recognize any one of them. It is not as in the days when Huerta, the man of iron closely resembling Diaz in character, had his back to the wall and faced no man stronger than himself. It seems reasonable to believe that the recognition of Huerta would have pacified Mexico by this time.

But the situation has changed. "Watchful waiting" has been an utter failure as a policy; the negotiations and promises of the various generals have availed nothing. Mr. West advises the blockade of the whole of Mexico. No other plan of which the general public knows is being considered, and it is within the reach of probability that this one may be adopted. Something definite has to be done, and be done soon.

THE LONG-SHEET BILL.

Will Gov. Johnson sign or will he kill with a pocket veto the bill that requires lodging-houses and hotel sheets to be nine-to-eight inches long and eighty-one inches wide? The passage of the bill was urged by a commercial traveler who was so tall that he was compelled to choose between cold feet and a cold nose, and of such recalcitrance that unless he exercised extraordinary care in turning over in bed he incurred the danger of leaving uncovered his rear elevation or his front protuberance.

The taxpayer public will be grateful—although Gov. Johnson may not be—that the long-sheet law did not include the creation of a board of five high-salaried Longsheet Commissioners, with a secretary, a stenographer, a bailiff and about fifty of ficial sheet measurers who would alight upon the State treasury like woodpeckers on the cuticle of a bob-tailed horse.

Too Busy.

THE INEVITABLE.

Those who are brave enough to look clearly into the future and who are allowed mediums through which to give expression to that which they see have no fear in predicting the future. The very call of the Suez Canal was completed, but the national debt was increased until in 1875 it amounted to $455,000,000—an enormous sum considering the sparse population and limited resources of the country.

Then Great Britain and France, in the interest of the bondholders, joined in the creation of a European commission of control over Egyptian finance. The Egyptians opposed this and the insurrection of Arabi Pasha followed, with the bombardment of Alexandria, the battle of Tel-el-Kebir, the British occupation of Cairo and the disbandment of the Egyptian army.

France declined to join in Egyptian police work, but antagonized British occupation of the country. Finally in 1904 France and England agreed upon a treaty by which Egypt was to be left to the exclusive management of England, and France was to have a free hand in Morocco.

During all these years Turkey maintained a shadowy rule over Egypt exercised through a Khedive. This continued until a long life of anarchy. The integrity of these races admits of no complete alien understanding or sympathy. It is an exceptional man who looks eye to eye with a man of another blood, and it is even doubtful if such a man exists. To ask the Latin, the Saxon, the Teuton, the Slav and the oriental to meet together upon common ground and surrender the keeping of their liberties one to the other is to ask the impossible. For Europe is a mental Tower of Babel where it is denied to those who dwell in one state to think in the same way as do those who dwell in another.

The states possessed of racial integrity, victor or vanquished, will be warlike, broken in health and pocket and for years to come will be absorbed in the accounting for energy now being lost or destroyed by the force of arms; but the race will still live, alone in the crowd of races which jostle each other in the human beehive of Western Europe. None will yield real allegiance to another voluntarily or under compulsion. A United States of Europe is an impossibility now or within any span of years which may hold the concern or interest of those who are alive today.

A Dog Doctor's System.
 [New York Times.] A New York veterinary tells of his system of handling the pet animals entrusted to his care by rich women. "When," says he, "I receive an overfed dog, I consign him to a disused brick oven with a crust of bread, an onion and an old shoe. When the dog begins to gnaw the bread, the anxious mistress is informed that her darling is 'doing nicely.' When the canine begins to operate on the onion, word is sent that the animal is 'decidedly better.' When the dog tackles the shoe, my lady is gratified to hear that her precious pet is 'ready to be removed.'"

THE UNITED STATES OF EUROPE

(CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES)
 BY JAMES DAVENPORT WHELPLEY.

NO MATTER how the present war may end, there is one thing certain—England will still be England; France will be France; Germany will be Germany, and so on to the end. The one possible exception is Austria-Hungary, which may fall to pieces because of the lack of what holds the others together, namely, racial homogeneity. And it is this which causes the theory of a United States of Europe as a possible solution for further difficulties to fall of its own weight.

In time of peace no nationality would voluntarily yield an item of individual authority to alien influence. The politician who proposed it would be laughed into obscurity. A civilized state may be conquered by force of arms, but no such conqueror can rule that state successfully.

Conquered Ireland is the weak spot in the United Kingdom. The very term "Great Britain and Ireland" is significant of the exclusion of Ireland from full participation and full confidence. The Boers of South Africa, the Nationalists of India and Egypt, furnish all the really great problems of British administration. The rape of Alsace and Lorraine has kept the martial spirit of France alive for forty years. Under German, Russian and Austrian rule a divided Poland is dreaming always of evicting the outsider. A costly and beneficent government of the Philippines has strengthened rather than weakened a demand for independence and the degradation, even the extinction, of the Koreans is the only programme in which Japan finds any promise of success in its newly-made and stolid province of Chosen.

England, Scotland and Wales are brothers in fact. Norway and Sweden stand shoulder to shoulder. Where it is the will of the people union is possible; a marriage of convenience can be arranged and result in more or less contentment. When the bride is forced to the arms of her lord there will be no peace in the household. No United States of Europe can come through war and hold together long enough to become an established fact; and no such union of the European states will ever come about through the will of the peoples within them. Even the erstwhile dream of a Balkan Federation, formulated by Venizelos, the Prime Minister of Greece, is impractical, as was soon discovered, because of race and religious antipathies and political jealousies both great and small.

Race antagonism is stronger today than ever before. It has been individual in recent years of peace. It has now been nationalized and quickly capitalized by the military forces. No such outburst of venom, one against the other, has been recorded in history as is witnessed today in the utterances of the combatants one to the other and concerning each other. The very call to arms is based upon race hatred. Today it is the German, Austrian, Hungarian and the Turk against the English, French, Belgian, Russian and the Serbians. It is merely a trick of Fate that this is the alignment. The camp might easily have been divided upon other lines and no less rancor would have been shown.

All talk of a United States of Europe comes from naive America, a land of many countries; of heterogeneous population and unconcerned with the relative strength of neighbors, for they are negligible. We Americans talk humanitarianism now, and our country was one of those involved in the present struggle we would not have time, patience or spirit for theories or philosophy and would quickly become a primitive as are those now struggling with facts and forces as old as the world itself.

In Europe there are four hundred million people divided into racial groups speaking hundreds of distinct languages and hundreds of dialects, many of them equivalent to a separate tongue. Each group is a race decreed its own, with traditions, habits and temperament acquired from a long life of ancestry. The integrity of these races admits of no complete alien understanding or sympathy. It is an exceptional man who looks eye to eye with a man of another blood, and it is even doubtful if such a man exists. To ask the Latin, the Saxon, the Teuton, the Slav and the oriental to meet together upon common ground and surrender the keeping of their liberties one to the other is to ask the impossible. For Europe is a mental Tower of Babel where it is denied to those who dwell in one state to think in the same way as do those who dwell in another.

The states possessed of racial integrity, victor or vanquished, will be warlike, broken in health and pocket and for years to come will be absorbed in the accounting for energy now being lost or destroyed by the force of arms; but the race will still live, alone in the crowd of races which jostle each other in the human beehive of Western Europe. None will yield real allegiance to another voluntarily or under compulsion. A United States of Europe is an impossibility now or within any span of years which may hold the concern or interest of those who are alive today.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

GOOD AND EVIL.

The poet got his facts awry concerning what lives after death; the good men do live on for aye, the evil passes like a breath. A noble thought, by thinker drunk, will live and flourish through the years; a thought ignoble goes kerplunk, to perish in a pool of tears. Man dies, and folks around his bed behold his tranquil, outward clay. "We'll speak no evil of the dead, but recollect the good," they say. Then one recalls some noble trait which figured in the life of a dead man. "He was the Widow Johnson's gate, and wouldn't charge a doggone cent." "Oh, he was grand when folks were ill; he'd stay and nurse them night and day, and when the bolus and the pill, and never hint around for pay." "He ran three blocks to catch my wig when April weather was at large." "He butchered Mrs. Jagwag's pig, and smoked the hams, and didn't charge." Thus men conspire to place on file and make a record of the good, and they'd forget the mean or vile for which, perhaps, in life you stood. The shining heroes we admire had faults and vices just like you; when they concluded to expire, their fallings kicked the bucket, too.

[The Argonaut.] A farmer wrote to the editor of an agricultural paper as follows: "I have a horse that has been afflicted for the past year with periodical fits of distemper. Please let me know what I should do with him, as he seems to get worse instead of better. I am afraid he will be useless for work if something is not done soon." In the next issue this answer appeared: "When the nag is looking all right, sell him to some one."

Life's Gentler Side—Society, Music, Song and the Dance—The Theatre

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

LOS ANGELES is full of it not charitably.

In her history, there has ever been some orphanage to aid or a free clinic to keep going or a maternity hospital or children's home to support—far too many to enumerate—and now with the frightful conditions that have arisen as a natural consequence of the war, all but severing one's faith in humanity, and causing our hearts to bleed in sympathy, have come added motifs for concerted work in alleviating suffering.

In this city a little band of women, numbering less than forty, the Princess Mary Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, have been working very quietly but earnestly the past several months, and the fruits of their efforts represent about $350 of drugs and bandages, together with surgical appliances; seventy-six hospital shifts they have made and laundered, and 181 surgical dressings made by their own hands under the supervision of a trained nurse—all sent to La Touquet, near Boulogne, France.

These same earnest little coterie of women are giving a dance and card party at the Little Theater on Saturday night, to secure funds to continue in their good work. Mrs. C. J. Fox, Jr., the regent, and Mrs. Robert Plant, chairman of arrangements, are to be assisted by Mrs. Aubrey Allen, Mrs. Geoffrey O'Connell, Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. Harold Allen, Mrs. Hugh Wallace, Miss Marian Moffatt, Miss Charlotte Magee and Miss Wylie Jamieson.

It was Miss Magee's cousin, by the way (Frank C. Magee of St. John, N. E.), under whose command his country's guns were retaken at the big battle of Langemarck on April 22 last. Miss Magee is very proud over her relative's valor, though it is not the first time he has distinguished himself on the field of battle. It was through his orders the German side tower was dismantled, this of course, happening previous to the Langemarck affair. It is interesting to hear this retelling "mita of a young woman" talk of the war meeting and election of officers. Following the disposal of business, Dowson's "Pierrot for a Minute" will be read.

For Distinguished Guests.

Col. and Mrs. E. C. Layton are entertaining at their handsome new home, No. 288 Magnolia avenue, Princess Hames of Cairo and Paris, who, since the war troubles, has been staying in New York, and Mrs. James B. Widen of St. Louis and New York.

In their honor the Laytons gave a delightful dancing party on Tuesday evening, to which fifty guests were bidden. Another prominent guest was Hon. Walter Poole of St. Paul. The Laytons, who not long ago returned from an extensive tour of Egypt and the continent, met their guests abroad, and the reunion, in proving especially delightful. During their stay the ladies are to furnish the motif for some especially lovely affairs.

Guests From England.

The Thomas J. Flemmings of No. 2215 Wilshire boulevard have as house guests, Mrs. T. L. Lane and daughter, Miss Felice, of London, who arrived a few days ago. The ladies are coming in great numbers to the city, though of a quiet nature, and consisting of small dinner parties and teas for the most part. They are being shown California thoroughly by the Flemmings, and expect to motor to San Diego and other points of interest during their pleasant stay.

Miss Louise Flemmings and Mr. Duke are to have a June wedding, though the service is to be extremely quiet, on account of the recent bereavement in the groom-elect's family. Miss Flemmings is one of our most beautiful young debutantes, and at first planned a large wedding.

Mrs. Krohn's Reception.

At her pretty home, No. 438 South Wilton place, Mrs. Hugo R. Krohn entertained at a handsomely appointed reception yesterday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. E. Harris Howard and of Spencer, Mrs. W. L. P. Althaus, Mrs. Lloyd Coleman Young, Mrs. Paul Ruch and Mrs. Ralph B. Harbace were particular assistants. An orchestra, screened in by masses of ferns and flowers, furnished delightful music. The function was one of the most enjoyable of the week.

Called Here by Illness.

Mrs. Joseph M. Masten of San Francisco, who was called to Los Angeles by the illness of her son, Stewart Masten, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, following pneumonia, is still in the city. As soon as sufficiently convalescent, Mr. Masten will accompany his mother to Pasadena for a few weeks' sojourn, going to San Diego before their return north.

Are at Coronado.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Conant of Imperial Valley, who are extremely well known in Los Angeles, are at present enjoying Coronado. Both are amateur gold enthusiasts. As Miss Margaret Peewee, Mrs. Conant has been a frequent visitor in this city, until her marriage last spring to the New York-Imperial capitalist. During her visit here recently, Mrs. Conant entertained several school friends to tea at fresco at the Alexander.

Plans for Visitors.

The Los Angeles and Pasadena Lodges of Macabres will entertain Saturday at luncheon at Beverly Hills in honor of the representatives to the Supreme Ten of the Macabres. The party consisting of about 200 will be given an automobile ride in the morning and taken to the hotel for luncheon at 12:30 o'clock.

Personal.

Miss Dolle Terry of Leavenworth, Kan., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Schweitzer, No. 2313 Jeffries avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Sinclair of Erie, Pa., are week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fayman of No. 317 Catalina street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Walker of New York City and Miss Elizabeth McCandless of Pasadena will be arriving yesterday in their private car, and at Beverly Hills.

Nocturne.

CREATES MOOD OF LYRICISM.

Pavlova's Chopiniana has Wonderful Setting.

Elusive Charm Penetrates Beautiful Scene.

Fascinating Color Scheme in "Amarilla."

BY HENRY CHRISTENSEN WARNACK

Pavlova's settings for two parts of her programme last night at the Mason were unforgettably beautiful. Never have I seen such a forest or such a stream as those which helped to make the magic of that exquisite nocturne "Chopiniana," in which she and her bright company gave with delicate sympathy the lyric mood of the Chopin music. They attempted no dramatic notes more vivid than a scene of such softness might bear.

The forest was made with leaves of green and gold. It was so dense that the brooding spirit of the woods became a visible essence and hung a purple mist over the singing waters that gurgled over the white stones—waters that cut their shining trail through emerald banks—through banks turquised with moss, with violets peeping through the whispering ferns.

In such a woodland the heart is at home and all of that restlessness that fevered spirit knows, all of that turmoil the world of men has brought, falls away from our footsteps. The brooding of the forest is the peace of the soul.

What a setting for such music and such dancing!

Of almost equal beauty, yet of a far different character, was the charming ballet drama, "Amarilla," a one-act opera of silence founded upon the story of Gypsy life as related in an old Hungarian folk song.

There was a maple hedge on the one hand and a little plain of bright flowers on the other. A gray road led through the open, across a draught of the banks of a stream entirely secluded, within the shadows of a dense growth of low oaks.

The women were in the sumptuous costumes of the eighteenth century. The Pavlova costumes are always as gloriously free from any hint of modesty as they are from slightest harmony. I could not describe this color scheme in detail, any more than I could describe the brilliant shading of the forty varieties of humming birds we have in California.

I suppose a man who could do so would be able to paint a California sunset. I only know that the effect of the whole was as soothing as a song upon the waters. It was the scene of intonation. The eyes were soothed; the mind was at rest.

Into this throng, harmonious and merry, came Pavlova, a Gypsy, clad as the autumn, with leaves in her hair. Her arms and neck were as brown as the yellow of the leaf. Her dress was shaded meltingly from a low-toned gold to a rich brown.

So deep that the twilight became entranced in its meshes and trailed off into the dusk of early night. Its lining at the hem of the skirt was the flaming red of the smutch in November, or of the red hair berry after frost.

Then Pavlova danced and we knew the ecstasy of the winds and the bird song; we knew the quiver of grass with the dew upon it; we lifted upon it.

the breath of swallows in their homeward flight at nightfall.

Such settings and such dancing make us understand why Pavlova's teachers were puzzled for three years as to whether it would be greater wisdom for her to choose the drama or the dance. Well, she chose the dance, and what a divine actress, a mad little Duse, a fascinating Naima! Her dance is all this and more, because she brings to the ballet the creative ecstasy and mental ripeness of D'Annunzio. She does in her work what any one of these artists would do in theirs and she does it with the same flaming capacity.

Rodeo Fire.

Tuesday, for example, she went to the rodeo and saw one man driving eight horses, and that night in the course of her modern dances she drove her thirty people with ribbon into an ensemble so perfect that it was like a shaft of light.

In writing plays many authors preclude the possibility of success by tedious dialogue. Two people talking things over never create a dramatic situation. Pavlova never makes this mistake. She packs and jams her stage with vivid personalities, animated by the most perfect of settings.

There is music in the air when Pavlova and her people move in light. People are still talking about the trembling ecstasy of her butterfly creature last week night. Mr. Behrman has suggested that this be introduced first with a creeping motion across the stage in green to embody the caterpillar.

In a moment of stillness the green robe would reveal its gray-brown lining to represent the chrysalis and then from this numb, still thing the dancers would rise from earth to air on radiant wings.

Tonight the first number is "The Magic Flute," the second "The Invitation to Dance," both radiant creations, and the third a series of delightful features.

Creators Concerts.

Creators continues to draw many a good round of applause from the audience at the Morosco Theater. He will offer many interesting and popular musical features in the last part of his engagement.

Miller's. The return engagement of "The Clemenceau Case," at Miller's, this week, again proves the popularity of the fascinating Theda Bara.

Next week the attraction will be "Princess Bonaparte," featuring Theda Bara's "Fedora," and featuring Nance O'Neill.

Quinn's Garrick. Betty Nansen in "The Celebrated Scandal" is drawing well at the Orpheum. Sylvester Schaffer, said to be the highest salaried man ever in vaudeville, and who is a whole host of entertainers in himself, will headline next week's bill at the Orpheum. His act lasts more than an hour and includes juggling, card and coin manipulating, painting of pictures, horse training, rifle shooting, violin playing, dog training, Olympic athlete posing and other stunts.

Loew's Empress. W. H. Macart and Ethelwynne Bradford, drawn from the legitimate stage, will make their first local appearance in vaudeville next Monday at the Empress, in an act entitled "A Legitimate Hold-up."

Pantages. Next week's Pantages bill offers much variety. The Eight-Forest-Mat, pretty girls in dancing, acrobatics and song, head the bill and promise much entertainment.

Hippodrome. A very girly bill will be seen at the "Hipp" next week.

Heading the bunch of peaches is "Fun in a Candy Shop," with several pretty girls who perform a miniature musical comedy.

Republic. Lola Stantone pleases the crowds twice daily at the Republic with her violin playing. Others on the bill are Big Mike, the king ostrich, and his wife Maggie, with the kid performer, "John Brack," "The Nigger Primrose" and others who are getting the noise with their different acts.

"Mission Play." The six-hundredth performance of the "Mission Play" was given yesterday afternoon. Only a few of the players who were members of the first performance of the pagan drama were in yesterday's production. There were two who deserve special mention, these being Frank Staples, who plays the part of Father Fernando, and who has never missed a single performance, and Mitchell, who takes the part of Young Ubaldo.

Majestic. Next week one of the greatest of film dramas, "Les Miserables," the screen version of Victor Hugo's novel, will be the Majestic offering.

"When Justice Sleeps," the third and most powerful photoplay of the "Way" series so far presented, club has been shown at the Palace of Pictures in the same sort of way.

REFeree STOPS BOXING BOUT.

Chip and Clabby Accused of Stalling.

Roche Orders Money to be Paid Back.

Fighters Cannot Get Away with Farce.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.) NEW YORK, May 12.—Somebody pulled a "hoax" in the scheduled ten-round fight between Jimmy Clabby of Hammond, and George Chip of Newmarket, Pa., tonight. The fight was stopped because the boxers were loading. Here are the facts in a nutshell:

Two weeks ago Clabby and Chip fought ten rounds in Marinette, Wis. The town boasts a population far less than 10,000.

FACTS. — Tonight Clabby entered the ring fat and lousy, Chip slow and over weight.

Clabby boxed in his usual fancy way, Chip in his own peculiar style, with his windmill-like swings. The New York gallery boys hissed. They wanted blood.

STOPPED. — In the eighth round after Referee Billy Roche had warned both men at least five times about their box-car movements, he stopped the fight, sent the men to their corners and told the people they could get their money back as the men were not trying, or in other words, pulling their punches.

OPINION. — The writer thinks the fight was on the level; that Clabby was out of condition and for this reason made a bad fight of it although in justice to the Hammond boxer it must be said that he showed the New Yorkers a lot of fancy stuff and was getting along first rate with the boxers' fans because of his cleverness. Chip, too, appeared to be trying and having seen the Pennsylvania fight around Racine and Frederick W. Rabben, president of the Metropolitan association, was quoted today as saying that the eastern tryouts will be held on June 26.

Boxing Exhibitions.

CLUB OFFICIALS THINK LOCAL BOYS WILL WIN.

AFTER viewing the three national boxing champions in their daily workout at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, officials of that institution believe that the local boys have a good chance to win in the special boxing bouts to be held there tomorrow evening.

Howard Root, 168-pound champion, looks like the hardest man to defeat. He is like a terror in action and never lets his opponent alone for a second.

He worked out with Willie Hunefeld, the clever L.A.A.C. 125-pounder who is to meet Frank Gorman, the 135-pound champion, in the 118-pound class. Bobby Muckenaupt's friends are sanguine regarding the chance of the Southern California 145-pounder against Charles Askin, the national title holder. Both of them are hard fighters and it is claimed that Muckenaupt is slightly the cleverer of the two. He has a good style of delivery.

BEST IN SPECIAL. — Willie Hunefeld, who has been working out since last Friday, plans to be at his best for his match against Frank Gorman, the 135-pound champion. Hunefeld always has been at his best in special matches.

He is only 17 years of age and hasn't the endurance of an older boxer. His few losses have been in tournaments where he defeated the first three or four men to face him and then fell down because he could not stand the hard grind. In this match he will be fresh and will be Gorman all his.

Frank Crowley, who is to meet Muckenaupt, is a consistent lightweight champion, is a consistent winner. Two years ago he won the State title and last year he took the Southern California championship. Mike Crowley is slated to arrive here today from San Francisco.

SHIFT MADE. — It was necessary to make a shift in the programme because of an injury to Jack Geyer's hand. Geyer was unable to go on and Cliff Jordan has been matched against the hard-hitting Schwetty. Both are middleweights.

Robert Richards has given away several pounds weight to Heinle Schwartz in the 118-pound class. Richards says that he can afford to give away weight when he meets a boxer like Schwartz. The latter is of the Jim Flynn style of fighter.

Louis Woodward has been showing improvement in his work at every appearance and Jimmy Rafferty, 115-pound South Pacific A.A.U. champion, will have a hard time holding his own against him. Woodward has boxed before the public only a few times but on his last appearance defeated Al McManus.

BUCK AND BARKER. — Dan Buck and Charles Barker appear evenly matched. Their best bouts were against Heinle Schwartz, a hard-fighting lightweight. The question agitating the fight fans minds is which one of the two is the best.

De Witt Van Court and Albert Geyer have been helping out the boys. Van Court has shown the champions how to land their blows more effectively and the veteran of the fight game also taught them a few other points that will help them out in future battles.

Tickets for the bouts have been placed on sale at the club. George Blake will referee.

Speed Burred. — When the English Sunbeam crowd arrived at the course today it was learned definitely that Jean Chassagne would not be able to come to America for the race. Chassagne has been granted a furlough, according to a member of the visiting team, but not to come to America. His leave of absence was granted for the purpose of allowing him to devote some time to the designing of aeroplanes for army use. N. Graham, who will be at the wheel of one of the Sunbeam cars in Chassagne's stead, is with the party, and will look after the business end for the foreign crowd. Jean Porporato is the other driver who is in the party.

SEALS GRAB OFF ANOTHER.

Leard Ties up Game with a Homer in Seventh.

Jones Drives Across Winning Run in Ninth.

Carlisle, Hetting and Risberg Hit Well.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

The exploits of the Hapless Tigers failed to develop anything new yesterday. They were simply belted again, this time, 4 to 3, and that's about all there was to it.

As exploiters the Tigers haven't been much of a success for a couple of days. Any good ball team is likely to get belted now and then, but the Tigers don't like it twice in the same place. However, they decline to become downcast, and will continue to exploit from day to day. Monday is about the only day that they won't exploit, but they will make up for this by exploiting twice on the Sabbath.

ENCOURAGING SIGNS. — There were encouraging signs yesterday, for the Tigers made it a fight from the first inning. Their resistance was so stern that the despised visitors couldn't cut the mustard until the ninth inning. They scored the one run needed to win in that round, accomplishing the feat by a homer by Leard. Carlisle, Hetting and Risberg hit well.

San Francisco started the day with a grand burst of speed, scoring twice in the first inning. When the Tigers jumped on the Seals with all four feet and scored in the second, third and fifth. This put us one run to the good, but it was not ordained that we should linger there long, for in the seventh Bill Leard busted into the picture with a powerful home run to the left center field fence. Things then drifted along calmly on an even keel until that upheaval in the ninth.

CONFLICTING PITCHERS. — Bill Piercey and Charles T. Baum were the conflicting pitchers, and they did their best to muss each other up. Mr. Baum, ripe in experience and diked with guile, allowed eight hits while Piercey, fresh from the alfalfa fields and full of vinegar, did the same thing. Mr. Baum, however, distributed his hits in a way that left him responsible for only one Tiger run, while San Francisco was forced to earn all the runs made off Bill.

Mr. Baum's support was quite lousy at times, a total of four boots being committed. Bill backed in the boom of perfect support. Bill enjoys basking, and is willing at any time to become the club's leading basker. What he objects to is that the Seals should hit the ball and interfere with his basking.

BILL'S FEET. — After the Seals took that running start and made two runs in the first, Bill got going all right until he was hit by one of the other visitors got to holtering about the way he holds his feet when pitching. This was the sixth inning, and seemed to worry Bill quite a bit. He tossed a pass right after that, but no harm came of it. But the fear that he might not be holding his feet according to the best usage of society seemed to prey on his mind, and in the seventh Leard made a home run.

Personally, we could see nothing the matter with Bill's feet. Both of them were on the ground, which was about the only place he could have them. If the ground isn't to stand on, we would like to know the reason why. Had Bill been standing pigeon-toed, or with one foot wrapped around behind his ear, there might have been some cause for complaint. Possibly they wanted him to have both feet up in the grand stand while pitching, or maybe they simply wanted him to get off the earth.

TOMMY'S MOTIONS. — At that, there must have been something wrong with his feet, for Tommy went through the motions of pointing out certain defects in the manner in which he stood up on them. Bill's feet were raised in the air, and went to school along with the rest of him. It is hard to believe that there is anything radically wrong with them. They look big enough to take care of themselves. We repeat that it isn't good taste to talk about

CONDITION OF HAP IMPROVED.

The condition of Hap Hogan was slightly improved last night, according to a statement made by Dr. C. W. Cook, who is attending him.

At the park Tuesday it was announced that Hogan was suffering from nothing more serious than the grip, but there was a sudden turn for the worse, and pneumonia quickly developed. His condition is regarded as very serious, but last night his temperature was more favorable.

President Maier called on Hogan yesterday, while there were endless telephone inquiries regarding his condition. His illness has caused friends and relatives grave concern.

He will be out of the game for at least a month. During that time Dick Bayless, the field captain, will have complete charge of the team, according to an announcement made by Maier.

A change of scenery also has had something to do with the remarkable success of "The Great Gatsby." The novel suddenly found themselves in a community which had long hungered for James A. Mearns' words and which was given it at once because seized with a species of insanity peculiar to baseball "fans." All the people in town were at one time or another players on the club that he was the greatest ever, and each player in turn became a hero.

If there was an athlete in the bunch who believed himself a lemon before meeting Gatsby, he changed his mind after reading the book.

"The Great Gatsby" is characteristic of a new town in a lagoon, and undoubtedly have their origin in the same place. I believe, the highbrows would call it.

Angel Right Handers.

Unless the right handers on the Los Angeles club take a brace, there may be a change in the pitching personnel in the near future. The left-handers, Gales. Neither are all the left-handers absolutely sure of their jobs. Slim Williams, the former manager, has been in-and-out variety. Slim figures to attain real pitching greatness, if he keeps the most of his natural ability.

Powers and Darnody are men who will insist on results. They have made a big deal out of the manager out of Dillon, and Pa is hustling as never before.

It is known that Dillon is not entirely satisfied with the work of some of his pitchers. Perritt and Hughes are warm-weather birds, and not a big deal was expected of them until they were sent to the minors. They have been up to his best form. Too much winter baseball is believed to be his main ailment.

Whether or not Dillon has definitely decided on any changes is not yet known. He is leaving for the Lake Mead. He advised Elmer Rieger, the right-hander recently released by the Athletics, to pitch in the States. Rieger has since been working reluctantly, and appears to be in fine form. It is believed better than when he was with the Reds.

Fast Guy Buys. When Harry Wolverton was transported from the East in 1910 and placed in charge of the Oakland team, he encountered considerable opposition among the players. His policy there was to buy the best. These hadn't a thing in the world against Wolverton, but they were strong against the manager who retained. Bill had taken over the reins of government toward the end of the former season, and had made a good thing of it. He had bought the owners felt that a change would be for the best interests of the club. Not only did Wolverton have a managerial record, but at that time he was a coking third baseman and a .350 hitter.

Wolverton and told him that he could abundance records for Oakland were broken. From the poorest baseball town in the league, Wolverton made it one of the best, considering the comparatively few games played there. During that season the Oakland franchise more than tripled in value. Wolverton refused to collect any wine from the fat guy. He compromised on a bottle of beer.

Wolverton's work with Oakland made him popular on both sides of the bay, and he fitted into the San Francisco situation nicely when Henry Berry found himself in need of a salaried

AMATEUR BOXERS GET INTO TROUBLE.

EASTERNERS ASK FOR MONEY AND A.A.U. MAY PUT BAN ON THEM.

(BY E. J. MCGHEE WRITER)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Arthur Kaufman of Brooklyn, N. Y., national amateur champion middle-weight boxer, and Matty Brown of New York City were suspended from their amateur standing by the Amateur Athletic Union Registration Committee. James has begun an investigation to determine whether the money for the men's appearance at an exhibition here.

The men were competitors at the recent national amateur championships at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco, where the Olympic Club trainer here, signed "New York Champions," asking for $100 to $150 for the men's expenses and $35 to the winner, and $10 to the loser for the appearance of the men. The committee has now summoned the men to appear before him. His suspension of the men is a punishment for the men who were referred to headquarters of the Amateur Athletic Union at New York for citation.

U. S. C. MAY RETURN TO RUGBY AGAIN NEXT FALL.

Trojans Cannot Bear Conference Restrictions—In Event of California-Stanford Patch-up English Game Only One They Can Play—Stroud Reported up in Oregon Arranges Football Schedule.

BY AD G. WADELL

IT IS possible that U.S.C. will play Rugby next fall. If California and Stanford get together and join with the Empire State and U.S.C. shoots a blank in the Southern California conference, there is nothing left for the Trojans to do, unless they set down the bars to freshmen and break out as a free lance in the intercollegiate field, meeting any and every team which can be hooked up for a game.

In the south the intercollegiate conference is holding off to see which way Stanford and California will jump, but the suspense is awful, claim managers. They cannot arrange their schedules; they don't know what to expect in the way of competition, and there may be no conference next

In the "Big Nine" there is enough competition, and it is not necessary for them to make any special ap- petition, but the U.S.C. students claim that the Southern California is a big-time affair, where there is not enough competition to keep a big varsity busy. The U.S.C. crowd will dispense with freshmen and meet the biggie-cupping teams in the conference agreement, but the Trojans serve the right to meet anything on anything from Yale to Arizona with anything in stock.

Should the conference hold tight on the closed corporation system and try to defile to U.S.C. on outside matters, the safe outlet that the conference will break out of the pen. And after breaking from the conference it will follow the northern colleges for Rugby, and will put down in the fashion sheet as the regular thing in 1918 football.

HARD BOWL. While it would be a hard blow to U.S.C. to have to return to Rugby, it would not be harder than the terms of the settlement of the case. The U.S.C. is not relying on the Freshman rule, but the Trojans claim that they will not stand for the contest, and so they shall do so in case of contests with outside teams. It is a case very much like the one between the University of the East and meet varieties under special agreements. The conference is not going to be a very definite one to take a jump in the lake or something like that, and was there kicked out of the conference.

TROJANS AND QUAKERS CALL OFF TRACK MEET.

The Los Angeles Athletic Club loaned up like a brick bat in alley to the college athletes. Since Boyd Comstock of the club has teamed up with the regular club members with the exception of a few new freshmen, one of two preps and two U.S.C. champions, Kelly and Law. The clubmen claim that they intend to take every point not copped by a world's champion and possibly a world record.

The last big league recruited by the club is Mr. Larry Gillette, formerly of the Los Angeles Dodgers. A big man in the fastest company and his presence boosts the L.A.A.C. stock market. The clubmen claim to have secured from the prep ranks on his passenger list and a lot of old-timers who chance to burst out over the varsity men and the youngsters are out to show real class.

Jerry owners in Houston, Tex., have started suit against the city, asking for an injunction to prevent enforcement of the new ordinance, restraining the city from enforcing it. The complaint asks for the injunction and later a decision of the court that the ordinance be declared unconstitutional. The petition declares that the ordinance, if enforced, will put the city's out of business, that it is a violation of the constitution, discriminatory, contrary to public policy, discriminatory and confiscatory. It is claimed that the ordinance is a violation of the constitution in being class legislation. The suit is being brought by

BUILT, REBUILT SINCE HIS YOUTH.

SAN FRANCISCO GROWS FROM VILLAGE TO METROPOLIS IN HIS MEMORY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.] CARPINTERIA (Cal.) May 12.—Don Jose Gabriel Hernandez, one of the oldest residents of Santa Barbara county, will go to San Francisco as the guest of A. Camarillo of Camarillo, Cal., to see that city for the first time in sixty-five years. He will then behold a city, only a small village when he left it, which has been built, destroyed and rebuilt during his absence.

Don Hernandez was born near San Francisco on January 15, 1828, and spent his boyhood there, being one of the familiar figures in the city at the mining camps, which lured so many men across the desert to California. He is very familiar with the early history of California and having a very retentive mind, is a valuable source of information.

After leaving San Francisco he came to Carpinteria Valley and received the first deed to land in the valley. From the stakes on his ranch, which was a short distance north and east of the present site of Carpinteria, all other deeds in the valley were drawn.

Don Hernandez is the father-in-law of the historic Don Gaspar de Portola, who figured so prominently in the early history of San Francisco. He has a number of relatives in this valley, Mrs. Jose Lobero being his daughter, A. Camarillo and J. H. Camarillo of Camarillo, Cal., are his nephews.

Another Long Beach Man is Dead at El Cacao.

Election Forecast Verified by Official Count.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.] LONG BEACH, May 11.—Two ranchmen looking for pasture this afternoon at 4 o'clock came upon the badly-decomposed body of a middle-aged man, a bullet hole through the roof of the mouth and the back of the head, a revolver lying near. The body was removed to the Holton morgue.

Although the indications are that the man killed himself, the police were tonight conducting an exhaustive examination of the premises to determine whether or not the man was murdered.

A partially obliterated laundry mark and the number of a cheap watch found on the body are the only possible means of identification. The man was about 50 years of age, was dressed in a fine suit of dark mixed material, blue-striped shirt, black shoes, size 7 1/2. He weighed about 140 pounds, was about 5 feet 10 inches tall and was smooth shaven. He wore false teeth, which were lying beside the body.

The police tonight received word that W. W. Myers of this city committed suicide in El Cacao today under the same circumstances. He was reported to have fired a bullet from a revolver into his temple. Inquiry from the officers of El Cacao failed to discover any trace of the man's residence here.

Harrington Sichel of New York and Spring Lake, N. J., last night.

The ceremony, which was performed by Bishop Thomas J. Conaty of Los Angeles, was held at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's grandmother and grandmother, Dr. and Mrs. Rudolph Schiffman of South Grand avenue. Rev. R. J. Conaty of the Church of the Holy Family of South Pasadena assisted with the service.

Four little "rosebuds," Janet and Barbara MacLeod, sisters of the bride, and her cousins, Marcia and Virginia Steward, frocked in pink chiffon and carrying baskets of Cecil Brunner roses served as flower girls and were the bride's only attendants.

Leonard Hammond of San Francisco attended Mr. Sichel as best man. The bride, who is one of Pasadena's most beautiful and charming young society girls, was a picture as she approached the altar of flowers on the arm of her grandfather, Dr. Schiffman, who gave her into the keeping of the groom.

She wore a gown of soft white tulle and tulle and her wedding veil also of tulle was caught about her shapely head with bunches of valley lilies and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

The announcement of the engagement of Miss MacLeod and Mr. Sichel, which leaked out by accident, took their friends quite by surprise as the bride is barely 18 and had not planned to make her formal social debut until next winter. She is very fond of outdoor sport and had decided to go into business life when she had completed her course in business college, although she is supposed to be heiress to millions.

Because of her recent illness plans for a honeymoon have not been made. They will live in Spring Lake, N. J., and New York, where Mr. Sichel is in business as vice-president of the Hudson River Rubber Company.

Members of the groom's family present included his mother, Mrs. G. Welling Sichel, her sister, Miss Florence Harrington of Spring Lake, and Mrs. Ina Campbell of Naples, Italy.

"FATHERS OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE U.S.A." NO. 3

Alexander Hamilton—"Father of American Credit"

DANIEL WEBSTER says of Hamilton: "He smote the rock of National resources and abundant streams of revenue gushed forth, he touched the dead corpse of public credit and it sprang upon its feet." No man did more to build the Constitution of the United States than did Hamilton. He took a prominent part in every debate, and worked indefatigably on all the important committees. His genius, individuality and daring foresight are indelibly stamped upon every clause of our National Law—the law under which Americans are guaranteed for all time Religious, Commercial and Personal Liberty. During Hamilton's lifetime he used his great influence to encourage and protect the brewing industry. Among all the Fathers of the Republic none knew better than he that honestly-brewed barley-malt beers make for true temperance. This American Colossus, who was second only to Washington in the service rendered to his country, drank good beer all his days. We know of no one who has yet dared declare that it injured him in any way. Under the tenets of the Constitution, which Hamilton did so much to make a fact, Anheuser-Busch 68 years ago launched their great institution. During these years they have honestly brewed honest beers. To-day 7500 people are daily required to meet the public demand. Their world-famed brand BUDWEISER because of its quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor, exceeds the sale of any other beer by millions of bottles.

OUTLINE PLANS FOR BIG HARBOR.

REDONDO BEACH GOING AHEAD WITH VAST PROJECT OF BETTERMENT.

REDONDO BEACH, May 12.—Tentative plans outlining the possibilities of an inner harbor for Redondo Beach were presented to the Chamber of Commerce last night and the committee appointed at a previous meeting was given authority to continue its work looking toward such an improvement here.

According to engineers who investigated and reported verbally upon the feasibility of constructing a harbor here, there are 160 acres that can be brought under a harbor district, of which it would be necessary to reclaim forty acres. Investigation also disclosed that 10,000 feet of dockage, instead of 6,000 originally planned on an old drawing, could be developed by proper engineering.

The work of building the jetties would require nearly two years, according to the engineers. It is proposed to have a turning basin of 700 feet in width. Provision would also be made for a small boat harbor for yachts. The cost, it is believed, would be about $1,250,000. Instead of $1,500,000 as was at first thought.

The Chamber of Commerce is planning to hold what will be called the "Million-Dollar Banquet," which will be the first one to be held by that body during this season. The banquet will be held May 20.

Announcement was made last night by President F. R. Fancher of the Chamber of Commerce that the various standing committees, the chairman of which are as follows: Finance, George H. Anderson; reception, Marshall Craig; attractions and SAN DIEGO, May 12.—Gov. Phillips Lee Goldborough of Maryland and his party of sixty Marylanders; Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, head of the General Federation of Women's Clubs of America, and the members of the Commercial Commissioners of China were distinguished guests of honor at the exposition and the day was crowded with special events and receptions and luncheons at the fair for them.

Gov. Goldborough and his staff and commissioners from Maryland to the Panama-Pacific Exposition arrived here early this morning and were escorted by a squadron of cavalry to the exposition. They were seconded by other military honors throughout the day. Gov. Goldborough and the men of the party were guests of honor at a luncheon given by President Davidson at the Cristobal and the women of the party were guests of Mrs. Davidson.

"I do not marvel so much at the beauty of the San Diego exposition, for I expected this, but the surprising thing is the short space of time in which you have accomplished these wonders," said the Governor of the fair.

Gov. Goldborough is the second Republican Governor ever elected in Maryland. His visit was somewhat saddened by the sudden illness of his eldest son, Phillips Lee, Jr., who underwent an operation on his ear today in Los Angeles. Mrs. Goldborough was prevented from coming to San Diego on this account. At a tea this afternoon in the women's headquarters, Gov. Goldborough and his party were entertained by the clubwomen. The ladies gave folk and woodland dances on the lawn. The College Women's Glee Club sang and a quartette rendered pastorals.

In the great pepper grove of the exposition, hundreds of clubwomen honored Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, national president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, today, when the San Diego Exposition tendered her breakfast. Tables were set under the trees and as the guests ate they were entertained by small school children who gave folk and woodland dances on the lawn. Although the indications are that the man killed himself, the police were tonight conducting an exhaustive examination of the premises to determine whether or not the man was murdered.

A partially obliterated laundry mark and the number of a cheap watch found on the body are the only possible means of identification. The man was about 50 years of age, was dressed in a fine suit of dark mixed material, blue-striped shirt, black shoes, size 7 1/2. He weighed about 140 pounds, was about 5 feet in height and was smooth shaven. He wore false teeth, which were lying beside the body.

The police tonight received word that W. W. Myers of this city committed suicide in El Cacho today under much the same circumstances. He was reported to have fired a bullet from a revolver into his temple. Inquiry from the officers of El Cacho failed to discover any trace of the man's residence here.

Alexander Hamilton—"Father of American Credit"

DANIEL WEBSTER says of Hamilton: "He smote the rock of National resources and abundant streams of revenue gushed forth; he touched the dead corpse of public credit and it sprang upon its feet." No man did more to build the Constitution of the United States than did Hamilton. He took a prominent part in every debate, and worked indefatigably on all the important committees. His genius, individuality and daring foresight are indelibly stamped upon every clause of our National Law—the law under which Americans are guaranteed for all time Religious, Commercial and Personal Liberty. During Hamilton's lifetime he used his great influence to encourage and protect the brewing industry. Among all the Fathers of the Republic none knew better than he that honestly-brewed barley-malt beers make for true temperance. This American Colossus, who was second only to Washington in the service rendered to his country, drank good beer all his days. We know of no one who has yet dared declare that it injured him in any way. Under the tenets of the Constitution, which Hamilton did so much to make a fact, Anheuser-Busch 58 years ago launched their great institution. During these years they have honestly brewed honest beers. To-day 7500 people are daily required to meet the public demand. Their world-famed brand, BUDWEISER because of its quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor, exceeds the sale of any other beer by millions of bottles.
